

MEET MIXOLOGIST COREY DEGRAW

Corey has managed and bartended at some of the country's best, including Nopa Restaurant in San Francisco and Paladar 511 in New Orleans. He is now the founder and director of the Rubaiyat Spontaneous bar popup in San Francisco. Corey specializes in revitalizations and new interpretations of pre-prohibition drinks. He conjures up drinks with a minimalist, clean approach using savory and atypical ingredients. But despite that, he's never met a tiki drink he didn't fall in love with. He has a moderate obsession with mezcal, and the land where it is made, which is only eclipsed by his intense love of Chartreuse.

You'll likely find me at or near an ocean environment trying to convince the local crab population to let me eat them.
